The economic power of the tech giants and their growing control over access to local and global markets became the subject of antitrust litigation, investigations, and legislative proposals in recent years. Changes in legal paradigms and enforcement policies are expected to form in the coming decade. On June 22, 2021, Antitrust Frontiers Global Forum (AFGF) will hold an online workshop about anticipated changes in competition laws and antitrust enforcement policies. The workshop will convene eight prominent antitrust thinkers whose work and insights contribute to present debates about antitrust reforms. Founded in 2019, AFGF is co-sponsored by Israel Competition Authority, Tel Aviv University, and University of Haifa. For more information and registration to AFGF’s 2021 Workshop, visit https://afgf.org.il.
